Aptitude Test Answer Key

There is a general aptitude test on your BMH application form. Since applicants will be taking this brief test online with Google readily available to them, their actual score isn't of the utmost importance. Applicants have the option to opt out of taking the assessment, saving themselves a few minutes when completing the application form. Willingness to take the optional aptitude test indicates a general inclination towards discipline and taking pride in one's performance.

If a candidate comes in for an office visit and you are on the fence about whether or not to proceed with them, having them take a proctored, in-person test in your office may be a good idea.
